On the 27th of July, the Middle School went to a puppet show called The Wizard’s Tale. The story was about a boy called Jason who was very naughty and lied to his grand dad about washing his car and doing chores.

My favourite part was when naughty Jason sprayed water on all of us and called the Fairy God Mothers on a phone.

Something I learnt was that you should always help your parents, siblings, grandparents and even your friends and also not to tell lies and make excuses.

We were all shocked at how good our puppets came out! They all looked fabulous! First we cut a foam square into circles and next we stuck skewers to make a head and decorated them. It was really fun. I am really proud of my puppet!
